Dietary fatty acids and inflammation: new insights and emerging markers

Invited talk by Professor Parveen Yaqoob
Tuesday 30 October 2018 at 9:30-10:30 am
Room A107 (“Spisestuen”) 1st floor, Rolighedsvej 30, 1958 Frederiksberg C
Department of Nutrition, Exercise and Sports, University of Copenhagen

Parveen Yaqoob is Professor of Nutritional Physiology at Department of Food and Nutritional Sciences, University of Reading, United Kingdom.
Prof Yaqoob graduated with a BA in Physiological Sciences and then a DPhil in Biochemistry from the University of Oxford. She has held post-doc positions in Oxford and then Southampton before being appointed to a Lectureship in Human Nutrition at the University of Reading, where she has conducted research on the effects of diet on immune function and inflammation for 20 years. Prof. Yaqoob is appointed Head of Chemistry, Food & Pharmacy in 2015 and, most recently, Pro-Vice-Chancellor for Research & Innovation at University of Reading in August 2018.

The seminar is organized by the Paediatric and International Nutrition section at Department of Nutrition, Exercise and Sports.