List of papers

The present thesis includes three scientific papers that will be referred to using Roman numerals. In addition, an overview of methodologies and findings across studies, including previously unpublished data regarding proximal femur BMD in overweight premenopausal women, will be contextualized to the literature and discussed.

